

Policy-making should, by all means necessary and at all costs, include public opinion to the fullest, especially in these times of increasing public involvement.

Please, without hesitation, delay the vote on the FCC rule change until after a more democratic decision can be made on this legislation. More debates are unquestionably necessary and more consideration must be given to the fact that allowing monopolies of any sort to flourish is undeniably against the basic principles of healthy capitalistic economy.